Amazing August Savings!

Dave, Barb and their Son, grew up working in the family fishing business, but then struck out on his own. Soon, he became interested in a different source of Omega-3 fatty acids: flax oil. One day, he talked to his dad about a better way to press flaxseed. Dave put his mind to work, and soon invented a new type of press that treated the flaxseed more gently and pressed it without heat. The result was a smaller yield of oil from each pressing, but with a flavor that was superior to anything else on the market. People loved this new flaxseed oil, and a new family business was born.

Barlean's soon expanded their product line to include additional oils, green food concentrates and other premium supplements.
